Committee Meets to Revise Curriculum

The committee of fifteen selected from all parts of the province to revise the course of study for elementary schools, met in the parliament buildings in the office of the Deputy Minister of Education last Monday morning.

The chairman of the conference, Mr. G. F. McDonald, presided, and called upon the Hon. Geo. P. Smith, Minister of Education, to make the opening remarks.

Mr. Smith was fully persuaded that the securing of the support of the great body of public opinion was absolutely essential, if the best results were to be obtained. He further stated that the committee decided to eliminate the subject of religion from the curriculum, as it was a matter of religious belief, and that the number of text books which parents were requested to purchase, as a financial relief to effect the tremendous increase in the cost of books.

The minister urged the committee to try to work out a practical course that would encourage thorough work and the development of habits of industry, no matter what material had to be sacrificed. He also urged very strongly that the committee should keep in mind that the fundamental purpose of education was the development of character, a proper attitude towards society and toward oneself, and good citizenship generally. He also urged provision for the making of provision that would give opportunity of more advanced work to the more capable. He stated that the course should be A. B. C. and easily adaptable to the varying needs of the children not only in the home and city, but in the outlying rural districts.

Offers Prizes for Canadian Schools

The Woman's Canadian Club of Calgary announces that it is prepared to donate three pictures suitable for school room decorations as prizes for the best results attained in Canadian history in the public schools of the city. It is intended that these awards will be made for the current year in the month of June before schools are dismissed for the holidays.

The heads of the award will be the results of examinations set for the pupils of grades VI, VII, and VIII, somewhere about Victoria Day, sometime between that and June 1st. It is proposed that examination papers be prepared for the pupils of these three grades, a separate paper for each grade. All pupils will be asked to write upon these papers on the same day.

The Fordney Bill Vetted by Wilson

Efforts to overcome President Wilson's veto of the Fordney emergency bill failed in the house early this morning, and the measure, originally drafted to aid the farmers, thereby met its death. The vote on the motion to pass the measure over presidential veto was 201 for and 123 against.

Germany Given Till Monday to Accept Terms

Germany was today given until Monday noon to accept the fundamental conditions laid down by the supreme allied council at Paris. The German delegates were informed by the allied representatives that if Germany does not accept these terms by the time the allies will take immediate steps. The first will be the occupation of all ports of the Baltic and the North Sea, and the Ruhr region of Germany, which contains important mines and iron plants.

Second, each allied country will place such a tax on German merchandise as it may deem proper. Third, a customs boundary along the Rhine, under allied control, will be established.

The German delegation was informed that any modification of the Paris reparations decisions permitted to Germany would be as regards conditions of payment, such as a reduction of the number of instalments from 42 years to 30 years.

No Agreement Yet Regarding Irigation

Government ministers at Edmonton still deny emphatically that any agreement has been reached with reference to further aid to irrigation projects. Premier Mitchell and Mr. Laidlaw, Minister of Agriculture, are today morning, the committee was trying to get the budget out of the way first before dealing with topics of important legislation, including irrigation. One more meeting of the committee will be held on the estimates, and when that is completed, about four days will be required for printing and proof-reading of the figures. This means that the budget will come in about the end of next week. The first meeting of the committee will be held at 10.30 o'clock Thursday morning, though the public accounts are not expected to be brought down before that time. The committee wishes to determine probing into the accounts of the provincial government demonstration farms.

Alberta's Profits for Liquor $500,000

Five hundred thousand dollars was paid into the provincial treasury during 1920 from profits accruing from the sale of liquor in that year. Attorney-General J. R. Boyle told the legislature in reply to questions asked by Mr. G. D. Stanley (opposition), High River, Mr. Boyle said this did not represent all the profits, as he was under the impression that there was more liquor on hand in government stores at the end of 1920 than at the end of 1919, but would give details on this later.

Dr. Stanley also stated that a question he asked last year as to the number of physicians receiving liquor prescriptions, the number of prescriptions issued, the number of prescriptions issued, and the number of doctors returning them to the department, had to be answered this year. Mr. Boyle promised to bring in the information.

Big German Liner Flying British Flag

The former German liner Bismarck, the largest ship in the world, recently purchased by the White Star Line from the reparations commission, is scheduled to sail for Montreal. She will be the second notable Majestic to fly the British flag. The original ship of the name—and a queen of the sea in her day—was launched in 1910 and broken up in 1914. Her hull and machinery going to the manufacture of war munitions. The new Majestic, according to the same source, is about five times the size of her predecessor.

SCOUT NEWS

Mr. Tom Oggood was again present at our last meeting and gave us some more physical drill.

After the physical drill the boys were introduced to a new and exciting game called "cock-fighting." The firm into this facing each other. Then the two boys at the diagonal corners hop out on one foot to the centre, here still hopping around on one foot they try to knock each other over or until one is forced to put his foot on the ground, and the opponents go back to their place. Then the boys beside them hop out on one foot to the centre and again go through the performance.

Mr. Ballantyne was also present at our last meeting and again gave us some more flag drill. Last Thursday $2.50 was collected. This is the highest collection yet received. Each boy is supposed to bring in one cent, which is used for the purposes of getting books, etc.

After our regular meeting last Thursday a meeting of the patrol leaders and scouts was called. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the work and improvements in the same. This first patrol brought up was regarding the provision of the boys to make up the patrol. A committee of three was appointed to see about procuring the items as far as possible.

The matter of the staves was then brought up. It was decided to allow the scouts to buy their own. As an idea to do this, the boys were asked to have to leave their staves at the scout hall.

The scout master then stated that he would bring the matter before the next executive regarding the provision of the boys to make up the patrol.

Then the matter of making the man was brought up. A committee of two was appointed to see about procuring the required amount of work to make the man. It was then decided that all those present (patrol leaders and scouts) were to make the man. The next meeting brought up was the choosing of the troop colors. The colors that were chosen were purple and gold. The committee that was appointed to get the patrol colors, also instructed to get the troop colors.

After this business was disposed of the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be the last Thursday in March.

As the patrol leader of patrol No. 5 and his second have quit the Scouts it was necessary to appoint a new patrol leader and second. By a vote of the whole troop Basil Tonks was appointed troop leader, while Henry Olson was appointed second.

After the scout meeting last Thursday four more of the stars were put into place. There is still one more set of rings to be put up.

Use Soaplines To Catch Smugglers

A new phase of the relentless campaign waged by federal authorities against illicit importation of drugs was staged when the liner Imperator was followed from Victoria to Vancouver by a soapline. A custom's officer accompanied it.

It is said that the "soapline" by which drugs passed across the Pacific seaboard of Canada has been somewhere between Victoria and Vancouver. Apparently hampered by craft, the soapline was lured on the route of the Imperator and pick up drugs sealed in watertight packages dropped by contrabandists from the vessel. It is said these parcels drifted upon the beach recently.

Chas. Clark held at Washington yesterday at 2.10 p.m. In his seventeenth year, and within six days of his becoming a citizen, he has won the prize of the prohibition commission.

To Extend U.F.A. Trust Organization

Interest attaches in farming circles to the bill which was introduced into the provincial house the other day by Alex. Moore, M. L. A. for Cochrane, and which has for its object the extension of the U. F. A. trust organization. Mr. Moore explained the bill and said he was well received by the provincial house, and that it was expected it would receive its first reading during the present session.

It might be said that when the U. F. A. was incorporated in 1918 that it was granted powers to act in the capacity of a trust company, and that this work has been carried out ever since to some extent. Recently there has been a great demand for such a institution, and H. Greenleaf, a member of the executive, had been in charge of this particular branch.

Britain not Bound To Aid Japan

Replying in the house of commons to a question by Frederick Hall as to whether the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance precluded the possibility of Great Britain being compelled to furnish assistance to Japan in the case of a conflict between that country and the United States, Cecil Harcourt, under secretary for foreign affairs, said that British relations with Japan had not arranged themselves that Great Britain would not be involved in such a struggle.

Mr. Harcourt further asked whether the sequence of this state of affairs had been made to the United States in connection with its naval construction program, to which the under secretary replied that no official communication had been made as there was no reason to believe that the responsible parties were in any doubt regarding the truth of the matter.

U.S. to Have Navy Second to None

A United States navy second to none, trained to the minute and equipped with the best material, will be the objective of Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, in his return from St. Augustine, Florida, where he conferred with President Harding.

Declaring he favored a larger navy, Mr. Denby asserted he did not fear the navy, any power, was the peculiar situation of the United States demands and justifies a strong first line of defense.

To Name Commission To Handle the Crop.

It was stated unofficially in the common lobbies that the government had decided to accede to the demands of its western supporters, and make immediate provision for the appointment of a royal commission to investigate thoroughly the handling of the wheat crop in the west.

A bill to provide for the appointment of this commission will, it is stated, be introduced this week.

French Prepare for Hostilities on Rhine

Great activity was noted Monday along the portion of the Rhine occupied by the French. Artillery, which was packed several miles behind the line, were brought up. It is understood that all preparations are complete to execute the penalties should the Germans formally decline to accept the Allied reparations demands.

The nature of the activities are a clearly graded secret.

DAILY LIQUOR SALES

IN R. G. W. W. $200,000. Total daily sales of liquor at warehouse in British Columbia in 1920 amounted to $200,000. According to the annual report of the prohibition commission.

Another Daive for Rainmaker Fund

We clip the following from the Medicine Hat News: "At an executive meeting of the United Agricultural Association yesterday afternoon, it was reported that about half the amount of the fund for the rainmaker contest has been raised. Another drive is to be held this month, and it is believed that the fund will be no difficulty in raising the full sum."

Messrs. R. S. Stevens, W. Barber, R. J. W. Morrow, President Pollock and Secretary Balfour were appointed as a ways and means committee to look after the business of the association on behalf of the executive committee.

Calgary Teachers May Go on Strike

If 25 of the 60 members of the Calgary Teachers' Alliance who were not present at the special meeting of the organization, held Wednesday evening in Central high school, vote in favor of a strike, the school board will have to call the meeting off on Friday, March 11, unless the school board accepts the alliance schedule before March 11. The full membership of the alliance was announced at 236, and of this number 207 were present at the meeting and cast their votes.

Before the result of the vote was announced it was decided that in order to call a strike two-thirds of the total vote must be in favor of the strike.

COUNCIL REFERS GAS FRANCHISE TO COMMISSION

Will Ask Utilities Commission To Investigate Proposed Raise In Gas Rates and Other Matters of Interest to Gas Users—Authorizes Taking Legal Proceedings Against Delinquent Tax Payers.

At the regular meeting of the town council held last Monday evening Mayor Bell occupied the chair and the following members were present: Councillors Werts, Leamouth, Keate, Broughton and Stone.

After the reading and adoption of minutes the regular routine was followed by Mr. Messrs. G. W. Werts, Mr. J. H. Werts and Mr. J. H. Werts were present in connection with matters which they wished to bring before the council. The former with regards to his garage and injury lawsuit and the latter with regards to his lawsuit for him to procure a driveway license in order to do the cesspool work at the school. After the matter was fully discussed both cases were disposed of to the satisfaction of all concerned.

At the request of the Educational Department the council endorsed the action of the school board in asking for power to borrow $10,000 for current expenses until taxes for 1921 were paid.

A letter was read from the Dominion Gas Company asking that it be granted to this company the franchise for the supply of gas in the town of Calgary.

The secretary was instructed to send out notices to all delinquent property owners, notifying them that if taxes were not paid within a specified date legal proceedings would be taken.

When the gas situation was up for discussion the town solicitor reported that he had written the company as instructed at the last meeting, but as yet had received no reply. Councillor Keate reported that the householder could refuse to pay, Councillor Stone did not think it should be left to the individual householders. He thought the town should take whatever steps the ratifiers should take whatever steps were necessary to settle any question which was a dispute. Councillor Broughton was of the same opinion and after some discussion a motion by Councillors Werts and Keate was unanimously passed, authorizing the solicitor to communicate with the Public Utilities Commission and to connect with the increase in the gas rates as proposed by the Canadian Western Power and Light Co. He was also instructed to submit a copy of the franchise for the inspection of the Commission and request information regarding the rights of the gas company to charge more rates.

Councillor Stone intimated that it had been brought to his attention by ratifiers that there appeared to be some difference of opinion as to the enforcement of the law in different districts. He said it was the opinion of many that a certain number of cases were presented in the town while another element could do just about as they liked and get away with it. He was in keeping with the spirit of justice and fair play which was expected from an officer. During the discussion it was made to the attention of the Chairman who was arrested from time to time. Constable Everett was present and at this point said that if it were Councillor Stone's wish he would leave the Chairman's office in future. To this Councillor Stone replied that if that were the interpretation put on the matter by the constable the mayor he resigned his position the better it would be for all concerned.

We report the above fuller than we had intended, as we have learned that the last council meeting an attempt was made to make a statement by Councillor Stone in bringing up this matter.

Old friends of Red Rose Tea who have used it for many years find it the same good tea to-day as it was all during the war and for many years before.

Women's Corner

A FEW REMARKS BY A PRAMIE WOMAN

We have remarked several times in these pages on the beauty of utility. I am sure all will agree how terribly drab and out of place a woman looks, working in her kitchen, attired in silk. The same sort of impression strikes me when I see a young woman or girl, in an office arrayed in a garment which might be suitable for her to wear at an evening party, or in the recreation of her home, but which is certainly out of place in the cut and dried marts of business.

There has been a good deal of argument as to whether the dress which women affect in the present day is unseemly or not. When I hear a discussion as to whether it is right or not right to expose so much of the person to public view I am always reminded of those wonderful lines quoted by Ruskin in "Sesame and Lilies":

"Oh wasteful woman, she who may,
On her sweet self set her own price

How has she cheapened Paradise."

It does seem that a vast number of nowadays women have done it in other days as well, but then women are supposed to be so much more advanced now—they are wasting the brief and spinning the wine.

Surely the dress which is disfigured, and by dignified, meant which fits well and serves the purpose of covering us suitably, is the dress which really looks the best. In proof of this compare the woman simply clad in a tailor-made with one garbed in the latest of the fashion. The latter, no doubt, will attract attention, does not the latter made at once elicit our admiration as the other garment never can. Of course there are occasions, in the privacy of our homes when it is permissible to wear the negligee which so many women are wearing in public at the present time. Really the Georgian garments and atrociously short skirts can be termed little else.

Prairie Woman is anxious to hear from all the women who are interested in this page and is open to receive suggestions for its improvement. If there is any special information which you desire, we will do all in our power to find it for you, and we will help and help on any subject of domestic or human interest. All communications will be kept in strictest confidence. Address your letters "Prairie Woman," 903 McCallum-Hill Bldg., Regina, Sask.

Beauty Hints

The Hair

Here are a few tips which will be invaluable to those who desire beautiful hair:

Hat linings should be changed frequently. Ordinary wire hair pins should be washed every two or three days. It is no good washing the hair and then pinning it up with soiled, greasy pin and combs. If these are not used, water with a few drops of spirits of wine in it, and left in for a very few minutes and then dried, will be perfectly clean. Take care to keep the spirits of wine away from any flame or fire.

Brushes, of course, should be washed periodically. When you use your brush, always dry it out, or wash, with the bristles downwards.

Making the Hair Grow

The hair will often stop growing through want of nourishment, and a good hair oil should be applied. Also make a rule of brushing the hair thoroughly every night and morning for at least five minutes, as there is nothing better for stimulating the scalp.

Keeping the Curl In

If just a very small quantity of hair oil is applied before curlers are put in, the hair will keep in curl all day.

The Figure

It is far more important for a woman to possess a graceful carriage and well-proportioned figure than it is for a man. A great detriment to the acquiring of this well-proportioned figure is the unsightly habit some women and girls have of "slouching" rather than walking. Not only does this habit, as there is nothing which has a worse effect on the figure than bad walking. The head should be carried well back, and not allowed to droop or fall forward. This makes the shoulders grow round.

Department

Here is a good exercise. Practice walking for fifteen minutes each day on a chalked line drawn upon the floor. In time your feet will fall naturally into position which is the correct walking position. Then when you have finished this exercise, the next thing to be considered is the carriage. Pull yourself up straight, lifting the chest. The body will then naturally assume a graceful position. The shoulders will be erect, and the weight of the body resting on the balls of the feet, where it should.

Poise of Head

But it is just as important that the head should be carried properly as it is that the body should be carried properly. Therefore, when you have mastered the two previous exercises, try balancing a book on your head as you walk the chalk line, breathing properly from the chest. If you can do this you may rest assured that there is nothing wrong with your carriage.

For the Back

Try this exercise to strengthen your back. Stand near the wall. Stretch the arms up, place the feet firmly, and stretch without bending the knees; bend the body slowly backwards. The wall gives

"Martha"

THE HOME OF HER ADOPTION
BY E. L.

(All Rights Reserved)

Martha nodded; but her heart was heavy as Miss Mitchell continued. "I know, my dear, it will be hard for you to separate from your little chum, but she is just a baby. I will place her in a bright, sunny family where there are plenty of other people and where she will be loved and where she will be quite happy. When you have lived as long as I have, you will know as many children as I have known, you will realize that little children's sorrows are very keen while they last, but they do not last long and they never die from them, so although it will be a grief to you for a time to leave Glory behind, you must allow me to be the judge as to what is best for both of you. Glory is too young to be sent away to Saskatoon, even if there were a home available there, as I have said, I doubt, and I do not think it would be fair to you to allow you to live and oppose me in the thought that you might be near her. Now I think that is all about it. I shall send you to the door, opening the door for Martha, whose heart was too full to reply.

"Good night, my child," said Miss Mitchell as the girl passed by. Martha could not speak, and the Secretary re-entered her office again with a slight sigh of her shoulders, as she resumed Miss Ogilvie, to continue the tasks which had been interrupted by Martha's visit.

Reducing the Hips

There is no better exercise to reduce the waist and hips than to stand erect, feet squarely on the floor, raising the hands high above the head, and bring them down with a sweeping motion so that the finger tips touch the floor. The knees must remain rigid.

The Teeth

The teeth should be cleaned morning and night. The majority of people brush their teeth only once—on one end of the road to the other. They should be brushed upwards and downwards as well, and the insides also, if possible. This is where the particles of food accumulate. And do not forget that, although your teeth may look all right, they may be needing attention, and you would do well to visit the dentist at least once a year.

Soft Corns

which are both irritating and painful, are caused by neglect of sufficient care in drying the feet by an abnormal perspiration after washing, and in some people of the feet. A powder which is antiseptic, but not irritating, should be dusted on to these corns. And even if you are not a sufferer you would do well to use a little of this powder after the bath, drying well between the toes.

Chapped Hands

Chapped hands are one of our worst winter enemies. Chapped hands are both painful and disfiguring to their owner. In the first place, a sufferer from chaps should wash in lukewarm water during the cold weather. After washing, the hands and wrists should be dried as much as possible with a soft towel and then plunged into a basin of bran or oatmeal, rubbing them well. At night time it is a very good thing to rub the hands with glycerine.

Cracked Lips

Cracked lips should be taken the utmost care of, and rubbed with a good cream every time one goes out. If the cracks are very deep, a little boracic ointment should be applied at least once a day.

Greasy Skin

No amount of face powder will cure a skin which is very greasy.

Besides which, constant use of powder will in time ruin the texture of the skin. Here are a few tips for those with greasy skins: In the first place, all greasy foods should be avoided and plenty of cold water drunk. In the morning, make a paste with a small quantity of fine oatmeal and a few drops of rosewater, and rub it gently over the face. Leave on for a few minutes and then wipe off with a very soft towel, afterwards washing the face in warm water. Rinse in cold water, hands and face.

Questions and Answers

Question: Student. Who was Savonarola?

Answer: Savonarola is one of the picturesque figures of the Italian Renaissance. He was a man of brilliant and wicked period personality shines out like a flash from the past upon the people of his day. He was terrible in his denunciation of sin. Rulers feared him, the wicked maligned him and the populace was swept like a sea by the tempest of his preaching. He came from his monastery to chastise the world. He was raised high in honor, then tried, tortured, hanged and burned. His ashes were thrown into the river. Some people believe that never such a wonderful man lived as Savonarola. He was a man of great import. To us he appears a strange mixture of nobility and delusion. He believed for instance, that spirits came and wrestled with him in his cell; that the Holy Spirit settled his shoulder in the form of a dove, and spoke in his ear through the dove's back; he declared that he, converted with God, he saw visions of the most appalling description. It seems to us as though this would be good if Savonarola's brain was not well balanced. At the same time the world is too full of strange phenomena, both physical and spiritual, to assert that Savonarola was an impostor in his religious claims. He may have had such visions and things that were not revealed to other men may have been revealed to him. There is no doubt that he was a great power in his day and we think that all men who become powers in the world see visions and dream dreams. If ever anyone felt the conflict between the simplicity of Jesus and His Church it was Savonarola. As he passed to the gibbet on which he was burned—on a night of the beautiful cathedral in Florence

Mr. Herbert Osborn Tells How Cuticura Healed His Wife

"My wife began to be troubled with itching and burning of the palms of her hands, and the soles of her feet. Later the skin on her face and neck became flamed, making walking or even standing very painful and preventing sleep at night. Later it became necessary to disrobe her both hands and feet."

"She was treated but obtained no relief. She saw an advertisement for Cuticura in one of the papers for a free sample. She bought three boxes and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment she was healed. IS ANYTHING IMPOSSIBLE?

During the past century there has been such wonderful progress and development in almost every line of activities that sensible people have come to the conclusion that nothing now can be looked upon as impossible. Ever since the world began we have had our doubters, and as age after age rolled by, each bringing with it its share of discoveries and inventions, there has always been those who said, "It can't be done."

When Columbus ventured the belief that the earth was round there were those who thought he was crazy. Yet it is largely due to that belief that we are "here" today. As young Watt watched the tea-kettle on the stove he had a vision. He saw power behind the steam that made the lid move. Although there were those then who said it was only a boy's imagination, yet today we have the fulfillment of that vision in the steam locomotive, the steam boat, the huge crane and countless other agencies. Edison was once looked upon as a dreamer and player with toys, but today we wonder how we got along so long without electricity. Bell and Marconi were looked upon by some as wise zards, and if they had lived a few hundred years ago they would probably have been burned at the stake. Today our children look upon the telephone and wireless as though we had had them with us always. And so we might go on in endless variety.

Today we have a man who says he can make rain. As far as the past there are those who scoff at the idea and say "It can't be done." So convinced are they in their own opinion that they will not risk even a one dollar bill that the experiment may be given a fair trial.

The Review is not in a position to say that evoked perard-vature Hatfield can make it rain. But remembering the past achievements of men who started out under similar handicaps and discouragements, we are optimistic enough to lean to the belief that nothing is now impossible, and to give the experiment and those behind it, every encouragement and support.

All concerned are painfully well aware of what rain means to farmers and townspeople alike in this portion of the province. In proportion to the prosperity of the farmer so also is the prosperity of the town in which he does his business.

For this reason the move on the part of the farmers of the district to secure the services of Hatfield, the rainmaker, should be supported by townspeople as enthusiastically as by farmers, even though it's looked upon by some as only an experiment. It is by experiments that ideas are perfected.

AN UNFORTUNATE CONDITION.

Just as conditions were beginning to assume most encouraging prospects and the outlook for a successful future in local military circles was very promising, a circumstance has arisen which has not only dampened the ardor of those in charge, but has considerably disorganized our local military unit and somewhat retarded the work of ultimately attaining the objective which was originally in mind.

It appears that the Third C. M. R. with headquarters at Medicine Hat, is also recruiting and that during the past week officers from the C. M. R. have visited Redcliff and have induced a number of our boys who had previously joined the First Albert Regiment, to ask for a transfer to the C. M. R. in Medicine Hat. As these officers hold out some very tempting inducements, the naturally met with some degree of success. Fortunately, however, there were enough boys who were sufficiently loyal to their own town not to allow themselves to be carried away by any temporary advantages which would build up some other centre at the expense of Redcliff.

While we do not pretend to be thoroughly posted in military matters, yet it does seem strange to us that there is not some code of military etiquette—either written or understood—which would prevent any such overlapping or cross-hauling as this. There could be no objection to representatives of any military organization coming into a town and endeavoring to get recruits from among those who were not connected with any other military unit, but to try and induce men away from a unit in which they are already enrolled, looks to us like a breach of common decency if nothing else.

That Canada could not go wrong under any of the respective leaders of the parties in the house was the statement made by Hon. W. S. Fielding in the federal house yesterday. Mr. Fielding said that the prime minister, the leader of the opposition and the leader of the progressives were all young men, full of energy and ability.

Today President Wilson retires from the presidency of the United States and tomorrow President Harding assumes office. It is another case of "the king is dead; long live the king."

A net profit of $40,978,654.10 after deducting income taxes of $9 per cent on an actual investment of $200,000,000 was earned by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana for the year 1920. Without income tax reductions the earnings were $61,577,503.50.

If the recommendations made by the Griffiths firm with regard to the reclassification in his post office department at Ottawa are carried out, it is understood that it will mean that close to four hundred employees of this department will be displaced on April 1st.

As an evidence of the profit to be made from poultry raising, G. M. Conroy, Dominion government poultry representative for Alberta, speaking before the local poultry association, cited the case of a farmer's wife at Huxley who, last year, made $1,100 profit from a flock of 125 hens.

There seems to be a possibility of American capital from the Pacific coast investing in Alberta irrigation work, and two representatives of Portland, Oregon, bond corporations have been investigating conditions and conferring with the government with this end in view.

Can Any Canadian City Beat This?

It is mild and equable all the year round climate of Victoria on Vancouver Island—a climate which is bringing so many Canadians and Americans to the beautiful Empress Hotel—is demonstrated most convincingly by the record of the thermometer. According to figures supplied by the meteorological office of the Dominion Government the lowest point reached during the year 1920 was 23 degrees Fahrenheit in the month of January, while in only one month, namely July, was any higher point reached than 54 degrees. The mean in the hottest summer month of August was 61 degrees while the mean over the whole year was 50 degrees. The winter months of January and February show mean temperatures of 39 and 42, although temperatures in both months were recorded as high as 49 degrees. No wonder that the grass is always green and that Spring comes early in this equable and delightful climate. Victoria is far excellence Canadian City of Flowers, and the Empress Hotel as its social centre is a perennial attraction for young and old.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

The Children of Today are the Parents of Tomorrow. To ensure in Years to Come the Dominions of Canada Will be Their Home.

My dear Boys and Girls:

It is hard to realize, is it not, that the winter is slipping past so quickly? Before we know where we are we shall have Easter with us, and then it does not seem long until summer, does it?

I wonder if you remember the letter which was published some time ago of the girls in Nebraska. She says that she did not see her letter in print and has written another which I am printing this week. She tells us about a wonderful girl in which I am sure you will all be interested.

I have had a good many letters from our boys and girls lately and am busy writing some of them. I have a book with all the birthday dates in it. I should hate to leave any one out and if it should ever happen that you write and tell me your birthday and I should overlook it, please remind me about it and I will make it right, because I want you each one to know that I think of and remember you on that important day.

I wonder how the school lessons are coming along these days and if you are all able to attend regularly. I often think of you in your little school houses, scattered all over this wonderful country, and then I remember that in you as you study and work and learn, lies the future hope of the country because as you, perhaps have often heard, you will one day be the men and women of affairs in this vast land and it will be what you think and what you hope and what you say which will matter, so how important it is that you should learn to think and say and do the right things and the best things for the progress of the country to which you belong.

Now do not forget to send me all the birthday dates, as I am so anxious to have them.

Write and tell Aunt Betty of anything that interests you because what is of interest to you is of interest to me too. When you write address your letter, Aunt Betty, 903 McCullum Hill Building, Regina.

Yours affectionately,
AUNT BETTY.

King of the Golden River

"Pny, gentlemen!" pleaded the old man.
"Off and be hanged!" cried Hans, seizing him by the collar. But he had no sooner touched the old gentleman's collar than away he went after the rolling pin, till he fell into the canal on the top of it. Then Schwartz was very angry and ran at the old gentleman to turn him out; but he also had hardly touched him when away he went after Hans and the rolling pin, and hit his head against the wall as he tumbled in to the canal. And so there they lay all three. Then the old gentleman spun himself round and replenished with perfect coolness. "Gentlemen, I wish you a very good morning. At twelve o'clock tonight I'll call again; after that a refusal of hospitality as I have just experienced, you will not be surprised if that visit is the last I ever pay you."

"If ever I catch you here again," muttered Schwartz, coming, half frightened out of the corner—but, before he could finish his sentence the old gentleman had shut the door behind him with a great bang; and there stood just the window at the same instant a wreath of ragged cloth that whirled and rolled away down the valley in all manner of shapes, melting away at last in a gush of rain.

"A very pretty business, indeed, Mr. Gluck," said Schwartz, "dash the mutton, sir. If ever I catch you at such a trick again—bless me why the mutton's been out!" (To be continued)

Letter to Aunt Betty

Dorchester, Neb., Feb. 6, 1921.

Dear Aunt Betty:
I have written to you once before but I never seen my letter in print, so I thought I would write again.

I saw in your letter that you wanted to write a letter to "Aunt Betty," so I thought I would tell you about a pet wolf I know.

"A Pet I Know"

Last spring there were two neighbor boys out hunting on our farm.

While a noise they looked under a gooseberry bush, and there were six little wolves. They took them home, and a cat raised them until they were big enough to eat by themselves.

Only one wolf lived, the other five died. The one that lived is a grown wolf now. It can play a number of tricks.

It goes hunting with the boys like a dog. They have it tied up part of the time because it catches chickens. Some times when they let it loose it goes to the timber, and when they want it to come home, all they have to do is whistle and it will howl and then come running home.

Yours sincerely,
HELEN HEEREN, age 13,
Dorchester, Nebraska.

My birthday is February 27th.

LEGENDS OF THE STARS

The Great Dog

Near Orion between the Hare and the Milky Way, as far south as we in the northern hemisphere can see, lies the Great Dog of Orion, containing one very brilliant star called Sirius. It used to be regarded as a warning to the Egyptians, just as a good watch dog warns a house of coming danger. The dog in the sky could not bark, but its brilliant light let the Egyptians know of any harmful event about to happen.

When they saw the star in the early morning they knew the Nile would soon overflow, so one name they gave it was the Nile Star. Of course they knew nothing of the real source of the Nile then, because no one had found them out. Sometimes to show that it was necessary to do on its appearance, they pictured the dog as a man with a dog's head, a stewpot in his arms, a feather under one arm, wings to his feet, and leading behind him a duck and a tortoise. The Greeks and Romans associated the Dog Star with the heat of summer and said that it turned up the fields and killed the bees. We still talk of the dog days in the hottest season.

A CHILD'S EVENING PRAYER

When I'm put to bed today,
That I may sleep I'll shut my eyes;
Father, till the morning light,
Watch my little bed tonight."

All the people in all lands,
Take unto your loving hands;
Old and young and great and small
From all danger guard them all!"

Give the sick one gentle sleep,
And the eyes of those that weep,
And please leave the moon to light
All our travellers through the night."

WHY THE SNOW COMES

The North went on a journey, and after going a very long way came to the South, where he fell in love with the South's daughter and asked for her.

"Oh no," said the South, "you cannot wed my daughter, for ever since you came here the weather has been so cold we are likely to freeze to death."

"Let me marry your daughter," said the North, "and take her to my home."

At last the South consented, and the North took back his bride to his own country where the people lived in ice houses. But she had not been there long before the sun rose, the air grew warm and the ice began to melt.

Then the people of the North said the bride must go back to her father, or they would have no home left; and although the North loved the daughter of the South, she had to return to her father's house, where sometimes the North visits her and brings the winter snows.

TALES TOLD BY THE INDIANS

The Joe Man and the Great Fire

One when the red men were in the woods a spark from their fire set the trees alight and burned them until the flames went down to the roots, making a great hole in the ground. Still the Joe Man lived in the north.

"Oh Joe Man," said they, "help us to put out the fire, or all the world will be burned up."

"Go back to the wood," answered the Joe Man, "and I will come tomorrow."

The messengers returned, and the next day, while they were watching for the Joe Man, there came a cold wind from the north. But this only seemed to fan the flames still higher and fiercer. Then the rain began to fall gently.

Then the wind became a whirlwind, and as they beat upon the fire, the flames became smoke and the hot rocks became smouldering embers, and at last the fire went out and the world was saved. And now where the great hole was burned in the ground there is a large lake.

Questions & Answers

Question: Farmer, is there any good in war?

Answer: War in itself is bad. When a nation goes to war, it suffers terribly even if the enemy never sets foot in its borders. Nowadays when all the manhood of a nation is engaged in battle no one escapes. The whole life of the people is upset. Trade and commerce are interfered with and the energy of the manufacturer is chiefly turned to the making of material for death and destruction. Scarcely anyone escapes the sorrow that comes from the death of loved ones who are stricken down in the prime of their youth and usefulness, or the knowledge that they are suffering far from home or languishing in a foreign prison. All this is bad, but it is nothing to the suffering of the people in whose country the war is fought, where homes are ruined, the land laid desolate and the women and children are often dreadfully down to death.

In times of peace we are horrified and saddened when we hear of the shipwrecks and disasters at sea. In times of war men who in times of peace would risk their lives to save the lives of others cause these shipwrecks and disasters and have wrongly thought they were justified. But in spite of its horror, war is sometimes right. If one nation attacks another and seeks to overthrow its rights, then the only thing the attacked nation can do is to fight back. A war to uphold freedom and justice to save the weak from oppression to save our country from an attempt by an enemy to destroy it is right. If the youth of a country are unwilling to stand for the war's desolation, that country cannot stand.

A Pale Baby.

Question: Mrs. B. Is a pale child sometimes healthy? My baby of eleven months is fat, breast fed, can walk and has six teeth, but is very pale. What do you think is the matter?

Answer: Many people are naturally pale from childhood and still enjoy good health. A high color is by no means a guarantee of the best health. You don't mention whether your mother or his father was of pale complexion. He may take after one or the other.

He has six teeth, and can walk at eleven months old. I don't think there can be anything at all

NOURISHING AND APPETISING

Good home made bread is the most palatable, wholesome and nourishing food in the world. It is far more economical than any other staple food. If people would eat less meat and other heavy foods they would feel better and help to keep down the cost of living. Bread made in the home with Royal Yeast Cakes is more nourishing and appetizing than any other. Nothing healthier for children and grown ups.

Scientists have discovered that yeast possesses remarkable curative powers due to its richness in vitamins—that by its use the blood is purified and enriched, and the resistive power of the body to disease greatly enhanced. Such cakes of Royal Yeast for half an hour in a cup of lukewarm water with one teaspoon sugar. Then stir well and strain once or twice through muslin and drink the liquid. BETTER results will be obtained by allowing it to soak over night and drinking half an hour before breakfast. Send name and address for free booklet entitled "Royal Yeast for Better Health."

Carnage Spicken

Enrico Carnuso, world famous Metropolitan opera star, has recently been fighting a grim battle with death. Stricken with a heart attack, following pleurisy, the tenor tumbled on his bed in his hotel all day. Large oxygen tanks are standing in the sick room, the last defense against death. Mrs. Carnuso has not left her husband's side since the first severe collapse. It was she who was beginning to show the strain, but she managed to conceal it from her husband. Carnuso is said to have remarked: "If the priest doesn't come again, I am not at all worried. I have made my peace with God. The only members of the family who have been with Carnuso are Mrs. Carnuso and their fourteen-month-old daughter, Gloria. Enrico Jr. is a student in Culver Military Academy, Ind., and Florence, the other son is in Russia, Italy.

Settlement for School Teachers' Strike

The first move to settle the strike of seventy-five teachers and send the 1000 children back to school was made last week when the school board decided to call a conference of representatives of the teachers, the board and the New Westminster union of trade. This is considered to be a concession on the part of the board. The teachers' Association has refused to give representatives to the meeting.

Elephant Attacks Woman

The wife of an officer of the Victoria's bodyguard in Bombay was attacked by an elephant upon the beach. The animal charged at her and suddenly mad and seized the lady in its trunk, whereupon her husband rushed to her rescue. The elephant struck it across the back of the head with its stick. Usually an elephant will kill a person by trampling upon him, but this was not the case, it was the blow, placed the lady in its mouth. The officer, standing by, armed with a rifle, immediately fired. The bullet entered the elephant's eye and killed it in the brain, at once killing it. The officer's timely action saved the woman's life. The incident gave rise to rumor that Lady Chalmers, wife of the retiring Viceroy, had been attacked and seriously injured by an elephant.

Holland's Princess Vred Morio Princess Juliana, who is the only child of George William and Prince Consort Henry of Holland, who will probably one day succeed to the throne of the Netherlands, has been allowed to see her first moving picture. She is eleven years old and has been reared quietly and carefully. The little princess, however, is being trained in music and other arts as well as the duties of a housewife. Her first moving picture show was of the educational type, a South Pole picture. When Princess Juliana appears at public receptions, she is dressed in elaborate costumes and wears a crown. She is indeed seldom seen in public except when walking through the woods and in the car of her carriage or automobiles. She professes dislike to display, and her resistance could hardly be called Dutch. Dutch officials say that the House of Orange is deeply rooted in the affections of the Dutch people and there are in the country millions who desire to adhere to the present form of government rather than to change to a republic, which has been mooted in one of the crises falling to give Holland a male heir to the throne.

Asks More for High Schools

About twenty-five delegates from the councils and trustees boards of cities and towns in the province of Alberta, interviewed the provincial government in Edmonton recently asking in the matter that provision for high schools be increased to approximately fifty per cent. of the cost of maintenance. It was generally conceded by the delegation that the resolution of the recent Calgary convention of the government grant of seventy-five per cent. of the carrying charges was too high. At the close of the conference after talk Minister of Education, Hon. C. H. Smith, had outlined probable changes in the system of government school assistance during the present session, acting Premier Hon. C. R. Mitchell stated that the municipalities could not hope for any material increase in the existing allowances unless there was provision made for additional taxation for the purpose.

Draft Pipe Causes Much Damage

Thirteen families were rendered homeless, two boys were drowned and twenty-eight people were taken to the Montreal General Hospital as the result of a high pressure water main bursting. Of the twenty-eight taken to the hospital only two were seriously enough injured to be admitted to wards. The dead are Jesse Skater 8, and Abel Skater 2. S. Fortis, assistant director of public works said that the water main which burst was a bad piece of pipe which had been frequently during the past three or four years. The water worked its way into the east side of the water main and rising to the next floor where it spouted upwards with such force that the basement of the building was under pressure. The Shatters have a family of seven children and saved all except their youngest child who was drowned while trying to reach the window.

One of the derricks in the district is the Dutch Shell, which will be working side by side with the Union and Imperial Oil, and the Canadian and American oil men are ready to commence activities in the spring season. THE THINKER.

By Justice Reider.
Back of the beating hammer
By which the steel is wrought,
Back of the workman's clamor
The sealer may find the thought.
The thought is a never more
Of iron and steel and steel,
That rises above dusts,
And transpires it under!

The drudge may free and thinker,
Or labor with lusty blows;
But back of him stands the thinker,
The clerk-eyed man who knows
For ails and plans them,
Each piece an part and whole,
Must go the brain of labor
Which gives the work a soul.

Back of the man's hammer,
Back of the brain that sings,
Back of the hammer's drumming,
Back of the crane that swings,
There is the eye which scans them,
Watching through stress and strain,
Back of the brain, the brain!

Might of the roaring boiler,
Force of the engine's thrust,
Strength of the sweating toiler,
Greatly in that we trust.
But back of them stands the schemer,
The thinker who drives things thru;
Back of the job—the dreamer,
Who's making the dream come true!

WHY THE EDITOR LEFT TOWN.

Some time the editor of the Pokenow Gazette is a few bottles of home brew. The same day he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale. Here are the results: "Wm Smith and Lucy Anderson were supposed of civil ceremony at my farm one mile east of here for a cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a back ground of farm implements for numerous to mention in the presence of about 70 guests including two milk cows, six chickens and one job shop. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridegroom left on one good John Deere gas plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with one good baby buggy and a few kitchen utensils after ten months from date of sale to responsible parties and some fifty chickens."—Exchange.

New York C. P. R. Building

Great interest is being taken by New York transportation and real estate men in the decision taken by the Canadian Pacific Railway to concentrate its various offices into one building close to the Grand Central Station.
The Canadian Pacific deal, which has required an entire year to close, has resulted in the purchase of the building at Broadway and 40th Street, in New York, for the Canadian Pacific. It will be used by the railway office branch at Broadway and 40th Street, and will combine its railway, steamship, and colonization departments in the same place. The plans of the Canadian Pacific Company are remarkably important in that they will provide the largest concentration of office space in New York, for, in addition to their own occupancy, it is said by the building, that negotiations are pending with several of the largest continental railroads for representation in the same place. The arrangement is similar to the Rail Company in the building itself, in connection of which the same building will be changed from the holding corporation for the City of New York, and the building will be renamed the "Canadian Pacific Building."
The area of the plot on which the building stands covers over 31,000 square feet, and is situated directly opposite the Hotel Williams on the north and the old Hotel Manhattan on the south.
The Canadian Pacific Building will occupy the store, basement and second floor, all that part of the building on which only a year ago stood the Bartholomew Church, demolished last April, to make way for the new building.
The negotiations just closed provide, in addition to the investment mentioned above, a lease for 21 years at an aggregate rental of something like $2,000,000.
It was said by F. H. Perry, General Agent for the Canadian Pacific in New York, for the Canadian Pacific, that the railway office branch at Broadway and 40th Street, and will combine its railway, steamship, and colonization departments in the same place.
